

Ready to Go Abroad

To a higher Education

About Us

In 2018, two college students have started a special 2-day college admission program called “Study Abroad Workshop” to work with a group of Thai high school students who are interested and have high potential in succeeding in attending colleges and universities in the U.S.A. The program was found on the basis of providing resources to low-income students with a high level of ambition, rigorous commitment to community services, and good academic standing. In June 2020, the current committees have come together to the idea of not only sharing what we know from the college admission experience but also providing online English classes that cover basic high school English curriculum to the university level of reading and writing. With this program, we believe the learners will not only have the opportunity to achieve their dreams but are also ready to be givers in the future.

Our Motto

Walk your path,
Be your own light,
And pay it forward

Our Vision

As a group of low-income Thai students who are in a fortunate position to pay it forward, we strive to provide resources and broaden opportunities for low-income and underrepresented Thai students with high potential and commitments to social responsibility to be successful learners and positive change-makers in their communities and beyond.

Our Students Are Hualaem Students

Ready to Study Abroad Program is found and supervised under The Gifted and Talented Foundation or Hualaem, which is a non-profit foundation in Thailand with the goal of supporting gifted and talented students. The Hualaem Foundation supports more than 250 students per year. Located in Chiang Khong, these bright students coming from all over Thailand participate in the camp organized by the foundation during school breaks. Our Ready to Study Abroad team members are alumni from the foundation. We hope to use the skills and knowledge we have learned from the foundation and give back to the students who are eager to learn and develop themselves in higher education. The students in our program are selected from Hualaem Foundation as not only we wish to support the Thai local students but also contribute to being givers who give back to the place we come from.

In the very early steps in applying to a university, each year, the high school senior students need funds to support their TOEFL ($140 each) and SAT fee ($109 each, including international fees). These are requirements for all international applicants and the students participating in this program are facing tremendous financial challenges that have closed off the opportunities in pursuing higher education in a foreign country. In order to achieve the goal, this fund will help pay not only the test fees but also the additional costs such as travel tickets, room and board, book supplies, etc., which could immensely ease the financial struggles. Please donate as you wish. We would like you to be a part of this small program assisting lower-income students in Thailand for a better future of the world.
